

WRITTEN BY FIONA DAVERN & NICOLAS CALLEGARI

LITTLE BLACK
BOOK

GRAND DÉDALE COUNTRY HOUSE

Why go? It's situated on the Doolhof Wine Estate in a beautiful valley surrounded by mountain ranges and forests. If it's fine dining you're after, mealtimes are elegant affairs – we're talking silver-service dinners.

What's the decor like? Cool creams and whites with gentle blue and green accents create a restful atmosphere, while cosy lighting, European and Asian antiques and statement pieces provide old-world glamour.

Insider tips: For privacy, hide away at the Old Wine House – a thatched stone cottage dating from 1707, it has a jet bath, private patio, TV and the all-important minibar.

Address: Doolhof Wine Estate, Bainskloof Pass, Wellington, Western Cape.

Rates: 1 Oct 2010 to 30 Sept 2011: from R2 475 per room, including breakfast, afternoon tea and cakes, soft drinks, beers and house wines, Internet and email access and a personalised concierge service.

Contact details: Tel: 021 873 4089 or visit: www.granddedale.com.

Maybe Carrie Bradshaw wouldn't be seen dead with it, but we're a tad tired of Sex and the City's approach to shopping. The Green Shop's Angel Clutch is made from discarded printing materials and is as sturdy as it's stunning. Best of all, you can snap it up for R160. Visit: www.thegreenshop.co.za.

SPOTLIGHT ON

The Cancer Association of SA (CANSA), together with 1st for Women Insurance Brokers, DESTINY and businesswoman Edith Venter, is hosting a stylish morning tea to celebrate its Women's Health campaign

"The CANSA 1st for Women Tea is a glamorous event to remind all women to invest in their health by learning how to detect female cancers early, as part of our Women's Health campaign for September and October," says Sue Janse van Rensburg, CANSA's CEO. According to Craig Whitehead, organiser of the event: "A strong team of brands is supporting this event and we're arranging a delightful host of entertainment and an exciting jewellery exhibit."

"We're thrilled to be a partner in this event, highlighting CANSA's aim to educate women on being proactive against female cancers and provide support for those affected by cancer. We're both in the business of investing in women," adds Robyn Farrell, MD: 1st for Women Insurance.

Where: The Maroela Room, Sandton Sun Hotel, Johannesburg.

When: 9.30am for 10am on 22 October 2010.

Tickets: R450 per person or R4 000 per table of 10, including a light meal, beverages and a fabulous goodie bag.

Reservations: Email Edith Venter at: edith@edithventerpromo.co.za or call Tammy on tel: 011 783 5887.

23 OCTOBER: Rally your team together and head off for the Amazing Race for Charity around Jo'burg. Visit: www.amazingraceforcharity.wordpress.com.

TOP TECH

OH, MY!

The HTC Desire gives plenty to gasp at, with a massive, crisp and colourful 3,7" touch-screen and more power than many corporate laptops. Price: Around R9 000. Available from: MTN (www.mtnsp.co.za) and CaCell (www.cacell.co.za)

CHOP AND CHANGE

Your kids and even your man will love the Star Wars Lightsaber Chop Sticks. Recreate epic Lightsaber duels at the dinner table – then eat your Chinese takeaway. Price: Around R150 (excl P&P). Available from: Star Wars Shop (import only – www.shop.starwars.com)

